Washington.

Washington, 9.—Judging from the long conversation of members of the commerce committee, they are much agreed over the views expressed by the President respecting the last river and harbor bill. Some members go so far as to say they will prepare a bill this year, the recommendation of the President to the contrary notwithstanding.

In the Senate petition of tobacco dealers and manufacturers for rebate equal to the reduction that may be made in the tax on tobacco were presented by Miller, Miller and Edmunds.

The secretary of the interior has declined to adopt the recommendation of the commissioner of the general land office looking to the institution of suits to vacate the patent issued to the Southern Pacific Railway Company for lands in Los Angeles District, California. It appears that the lands have been sold by the railroad, and the secretary says he is of the opinion that neither justice nor good policy requires the intervention of the government to disturb the title conferred.

At a meeting of the shipping commission, this morning, the bill to prohibit the payment in advance of wages of seamen was approved and ordered reported to the House. An amendment was added allowing shipmasters to ship their own seamen without intervention of the shipping commissioner. The effect of the passage of this provision will be to do away with shipping commissioners at all points.

Most of the western members favor 2c postage, and Anderson will offer to amend, to begin the next fiscal year.

The House and Senate agricultural committees expect to complete the agricultural appropriation bill on Monday.

Washington, 9.—It is reported that Manning, Mississippi, will decline the certificate of election in the late contest against Chalmers. It is understood he is being coerced into his position by democratic leaders of the House, who will not support so bold-faced a rascal; as he desires to reap the benefit of some question as to whether he can make a contest against Chalmers.

Butler is not giving the democrats much comfort. One day he was in a street car and Mrs. Blaine was there too. They engaged in a conversation; she congratulated him upon his election as governor of Massachusetts. "Yes," replied Butler.

"The republican governor of Massachusetts," he went on to explain in answer to a look of surprise that he did not credit his election to the democrats. He was elected because the people of the state were dissatisfied with the republican party management. He was the people's governor, and should not forget the fact that a majority of the people in Massachusetts were republicans. The night before last, Butler dined with the President out at the Soldier's Home. This occasioned some surprise and has deepened the mystery of Butler's movements.

I had the matter fully explained to me to-day, says a correspondent. Butler has for years made war upon the House, and they upon him. Now he has an opportunity to repay Senator Hoar for back courtesies, and he is here in Washington arranging a programme to defeat Hoar before the Massachusetts legislature this winter. Hoar is already very unpopular in Massachusetts. The congressional delegation does not like him, and gossip says the President has made friendly alliance with Butler in the direction of Hoar's defeat, but this is, of course, untrue. Hoar realizes his political influence is waning. Yesterday he delivered a little article in the House with the air of a great moral teacher. Senator Edmunds's face, during the homily, was a study. He sat with his face half buried in his hands, idly beating the devil's tattoo upon his shining forehead, looking a perfect picture of weariness. His few sarcastic words during the discussion were the only pungent ones in a dreary space of time. He denounced the debate as a charge from "the democratic pot, that the republican kettle was black too, perhaps," said he, with dry humor. "The republican kettle is a little brown."

Another Big Suit.

New York, 9.—John S. Alexander has brought suit in the supreme court against Mrs. Cynthia H. Shillaber, to recover $25,000, which he claims he paid for one-eighth part of her interest in the Silver Prince mine, in Peck mining district, Arizona. Alexander asserts that he made the purchase on February 5th, 1880, in this city, through Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont, wife of General John U. Fremont, as agent of Mrs. Shillaber, but after he had paid the money Mrs. Shillaber refused to execute the agreement or to refund the purchase money. Mrs. Shillaber, in her answer, says Mrs. Fremont held a contract for the purchase of the mine for $40,000, which she has assumed upon certain conditions, of which Alexander had full knowledge. She also sets up an act of the Territory of Arizona, whereby the property of a married woman, acquired by purchase after marriage, shall be common property, of which the husband shall have the entire management and control, with absolute power of disposal, and that, therefore, the property in question was subject to the absolute control of her husband. Judge Larimore, in the supreme court special term, yesterday, sustained a demurrer to this, holding that as it does not appear by the pleadings that Mrs. Shillaber is a resident of Arizona, and the contract was made in New York, the laws of this state must govern upon this point.

Dorsey's Secretaryship.

New York, 8.—The Herald's Washington special says: It is reported here that when the republican national committee meets here on the 17th of next month, among other business to be transacted will be the election of a secretary of the convention. Whether Dorsey will tender his resignation is not now known.

Spain Speaks.

Madrid, 9.—The Bad Rock contains a note in which Spain demands that the United States should not have the right of exclusive intervention in connection with the Panama canal.

The Weather.

New York, 9.—Cold, ten below.
Chicago, 9.—Milder, snowing.

Cable Cables.

London, 9.—The heaviest losses among the insurance companies by the fire on Thursday night, are the North British and Mercantile, £80,000; Commercial Union, £50,000; Phoenix, £45,000; and the Royal Exchange, £42,000.

The remains of Anthony Trollope were buried to-day in Kensal Green cemetery.

Rome, 9.—The Tiber is rising and threatens to inundate the lower part of the city.

Edinburgh, 9.—Sir Hugh Allen died suddenly this morning.

Harris, 9.—The condition of Gambetta is less favorable. Hemorrhage is apprehended.

The Hague, 9.—A telegram from Achmed, reports the Dutch troops, supported by the Dutch fleet, repulsed the Rajar of Passangan, with heavy loss to the latter.

St. Petersburg, 9.—The Senate decided that the Jews were incapable of holding office in Russia.

Miscellaneous.

Yakton, D. T., 8.—According to the official canvass J. D. Raymond, republican, was elected to congress by 30,286 majority. The total vote was 47,378.

Austin, Tex., 8.—Reports show a general increase of earnings compared with 1881.

Jefferson City, Mo., 9.—The Supreme Court intimates that the election in the Second district for Congress is valid and J. B. McLean will take a seat in the present Congress, vice Allen deceased.

Jefferson City, 9.—The supreme court has issued a peremptory writ ordering the registered count of the two disputed precincts in the Ninth district. This elects James O. Broadhead to Congress, and defeats McLean, republican.

Norfolk, Va., 8.—The yacht Idle Hours and tug George W. Childs, reported lost, are safe.

The Jeannette Inquiry.

Washington, 9.—Is the Jeannette court, to-day, Nindemann, in response to question, said that in his judgment everything possible was done to effect the rescue of the crews of the first and second cutters, and that he had no charge to make against any one connected with the expedition. In reply to a question, "Is it, or not a fact that during the retreat DeLong would order a start at 5 o'clock in the morning and then lie in the tent until late, and cause delay when not sick?" Wilcox said: "No such thing ever happened." Adjourned until Monday.

The DeLong-Collins Quarrel.

Washington, 8.—The navy department, to-day, made public an extract from a memorandum of DeLong, respecting the unpleasant state of feeling which existed between DeLong and Jeannette Collins. Collins is charged with treating the captain with much disrespect, disobeying orders, etc. The extracts say that when Collins went on ship to make observations, his practice was to remain longer than was necessary. DeLong's charge of disobedience was emphatically denied by Collins, and a colloquy ensued. DeLong says Collins was curt, contemptuous and disrespectful, in both language and bearing, and that he threatened to report his conduct to the secretary of the navy. The draft of the report to the secretary of the navy, covering the same ground in detail, is also made public.

Mint Regulations.

Washington, 9.—The regulations governing the mints and assay offices have been amended so that on and after the 1st of January, there will be no charge at the assay offices will be collected from depositors of gold for transportation of their bullion to the mint for coining, the cost of which, under the provisions of existing laws, as construed by the director of the mint and secretary of the treasury, are required to be paid from the appropriation for freight on bullion and coin between the mints and assay offices.

Spencer Heard From

Waterbury, 9.—Ex-United States Senator George Spencer arrived here to-day, on a visit to his brother.

Criminal Calendar.

Memphis, 9.—Two guards killed each other at the Conflict farm, on Thursday night, during a quarrel.
